

History of Lukang 鹿港歷史特色

The Chinese 「Fucheng, Lukang and Manka」 means Lukang was the second largest town in Taiwan. The history of the town of Lukang has been characterized by rapid change. In the 17th century, Dutch occupiers used Lukang as a major harbor for exports; in 1784 it was designated as the Taiwan seaport for shipping links with the Hanchiang harbor at Chuanchow on the coast of mainland China. Thereby becoming the gateway to central Taiwan. At that time the town was crowded with stores that covered their facing streets with awnings, creating the famous 「no sky」 market areas. Early in the present century the conservative residents refused to allow the passage of major North-South railways and highways, and the harbor silted up as well, reducing Lukang from the second largest city in Taiwan to a small back water town. It is this conservatism, too, that has allowed the preservation of the traditional face of Lukang.

Once you come to Lukang, you will soon realize what a charming town. Everyone in Lukang, will extend to you our warmest hospitality.

俗語「一府、二鹿、三艋舺」反映早期鹿港為臺灣第二大城鎮。鹿港鎮以環境快速變遷為其特徵，17世紀荷蘭人佔領臺灣，將鹿港作為出口的主要港口。1784年，鹿港作為與中國大陸泉州沿海蚶江之對渡港口，成為臺灣中部的門戶。當時小鎮上林立最多商店，街道上加頂棚的商店都比鱗次，形成知名的「不見天」店街奇景。20世紀初，因民風保守，拒絕縱貫鐵路通過，加上港口淤積，使鹿港從全臺第二大城市變成小城鎮。正因如此，鹿港的傳統風貌才得以保留下來。

當您來訪鹿港，很快就能感受到小鎮迷人之處，您將會受到鹿港人最熱情的款待。

Lukang Mazu Temple

鹿港天后宮

Lukang Mazu Temple (Tianhou Gong), established in the period of early Ming to early Qing Dynasty, is devoted to the goddess Mazu. In 1683 General Shi Lang and his army invited Meizhou Mazu to sail across the Taiwan Strait with them and protect them. Shi Gih-bang dedicated his land in order to relocate the Mazu Temple to its present location. Lukang Mazu Temple was restored in 1815 and 1874, and reconstructed as the current scale in 1936.

The structure of Lukang Mazu Temple is characterized by a sequence of three principle buildings, including the front hall, main hall and rear hall, with three entrances and two inner courtyards. The temple was praised as one of the most splendid works in Taiwan for its elaborate exquisite stone and wood carvings. You can appreciate the craftsman's brilliant skill and talent there.

鹿港天后宮創建於明末清初，奉祀天上聖母媽祖。康熙22年(1683)施琅將軍平台時，恭請莆田開基媽祖神像，護軍渡海。雍正3年(1725)由施世榜獻地，將媽祖廟遷建至今日現址。天后宮曾於嘉慶20年(1815)、同治13年(1874)、昭和11年(1936)重修，現今廟貌為昭和11年重建時的格局。

天后宮的建築規模宏偉，廟宇為三進二院的建築格局，分別為前殿(三川殿)、正殿及後殿。天后宮不論石雕、木雕、雕工精湛，為學界喻為台灣最精緻的作品之一，值得你慢慢品味匠師的工藝。

Osmanthus Lane Village

鹿港桂花巷藝術村

Lukang Japanese Lodging House was used to be the staff's lodging of Lukang local government and school. In 2008, it was subsidized to be restored to its unadorned features by the Tourism Bureau of M.O.T.C. Nowadays Lukang local government created the Japanese lodging house named Lukang Art Village, which promotes Lukang-style art creating and folk crafts passing down.

鹿港日式宿舍原為鹿港鎮公所員工、學校教職員宿舍。民國97年獲交通部觀光局經費補助，進行重修，保存日式宿舍的風貌。鹿港鎮公所將打造日式宿舍為「鹿港桂花巷藝術村」，兼具藝術創作與在地特色的空間，傳承鹿港傳統技藝。

Ban Bian Well

半邊井

Ban Bian Well located within the Wang residence on Yaolin Street, looks like a half-sided well, but it's actually a complete well. In the past, not every family could afford to build a well. The master of this Wang family built the well beside the enclosure of the residence so that the half of the well outside the enclosure could provide for the neighbors while the other half of the well inside the enclosure was for the family. The attentive manner showed the virtue for neighborhood harmony.

位於瑤林街內王家的宅第的半邊井，其實為一整口井，早年並非每戶人家都有能力開鑿水井，此戶主人鑿井於圍牆邊，一半供鄰居使用，一半在院子內自家使用，發揮敦親睦鄰的傳統美德。
